Liability Company, and Does 1-50,

Case No. 3:16-cv-06001

COMPLAINT FOR DAMAGES AND EQUITABLE RELIEF

DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

INTRODUCTION

1. Apple brings this action to protect its customers from dangerous counterfeit power products such as power adapters and charging cables that Amazon.com LLC (“Amazon.com”) sourced from Defendant Mobile Star LLC (“Mobile Star”) and sold through its internet-based e-commerce platform located at www.amazon.com. Mobile Star also supplied Groupon, Inc./Groupon Goods, Inc. (“Groupon”) with dangerous counterfeit Apple power products that Groupon then sold to consumers through Groupon's e-commerce platform. Counterfeit power products, such as those supplied by Mobile Star, pose an immediate threat to consumer safety because, unlike genuine Apple products, they are not subjected to industry-standard consumer safety testing and are poorly constructed with inferior or missing components, flawed design, and inadequate electrical insulation. These counterfeits have the potential to overheat, catch fire, and deliver a deadly electric shock to consumers while in normal use. A white paper recently published by the consumer product safety and testing organization UL (formerly Underwriters Laboratories) reported that counterfeit Apple charging products often "lack the safety features necessary to protect users from shock and fire hazards," and UL tested twelve counterfeit Apple power adapters that "were so poorly designed and constructed that they posed a risk of lethal electrocution to the user."¹ The safety of Apple's customers is of paramount importance to Apple, and Apple devotes significant resources to ensuring its power products meet industry safety standards and are subjected to rigorous testing for safety and reliability. Apple brings this suit to stop Mobile Star from any further distribution of counterfeit Apple products to the public.

2. Apple's customers associate Apple's famous and well-known trademarks, including, among others, APPLE®, the Apple Logo "Apple®," IPHONE®, IPAD®, MACBOOK®, MACBOOK AIR®, MAGSAFE®, and LIGHTNING® exclusively with Apple and Apple's products and services. When consumers encounter these marks and decide to purchase goods and services identified by these marks, they expect to receive genuine Apple products that have been produced by Apple.

3. Apple recently purchased a number of Apple power adapters and charging and syncing cables (collectively "power products") that were directly sold by Amazon.com – not a third party seller – and determined that they were counterfeit. Amazon.com informed Apple that Mobile Star was its source for the majority of these counterfeit Apple products. Amazon.com turned over to Apple additional inventory of Apple power products that Amazon.com had purchased from Mobile Star, and Apple determined that the vast majority of these products were

1 counterfeit as well.

2 4. In June 2016, Fortune Magazine announced that Amazon.com is the most
3 “influential” and most “trustworthy” company amongst U.S. adults.² For three years in a row,
4 2014-2016, Amazon.com has been ranked as the “most reputable” American company by the 5 Reputation Institute, as reported by Forbes Magazine.³

6 5. Apple purchased the power products identified above (ASIN B012YEW2K)

16 from Amazon.com and determined that they were counterfeit. Apple was informed by 17 Amazon.com, and upon that basis is informed and believes, that Mobile Star was the source of 18 those particular counterfeit power products purchased by Apple.

19 6. Consumers, relying on Amazon.com’s reputation, have no reason to suspect the 20 power products they purchased from Amazon.com are anything but genuine. This is particularly 21 true where, as here, the products are sold directly “by Amazon.com” as genuine Apple products
22 using Apple’s own product marketing images. Consumers are likewise unaware that the 23 counterfeit Apple products that Amazon.com sourced from Mobile Star have not been safety
24 certified or properly constructed, lack adequate insulation and/or have inadequate spacing
25 between low voltage and high voltage circuits, and pose a significant risk of overheating, fire, and 26 electrical shock. Indeed, consumer reviews of counterfeit Apple power adapters purchased from

Verified Purchase

After just a few hours of use on the very first day, the charger literally caught on fire!!! See the attached picture. I'm appalled that the seller and Amazon support selling a product like this. I'm extremely disappointed in my experience with this product after reading the reviews and selecting this out of the several available in the marketplace. Moreover, I bought three for my family because of the good reviews and pricing. Don't make the mistake that I did.

7. Consistent with consumers' experiences with and comments about counterfeit power products, the counterfeit Apple power products that Amazon.com sourced from Mobile Star pose a danger to consumer safety. Among other things, they lack adequate insulation and/or have inadequate spacing between low voltage and high voltage circuits, creating risks of overheating, fire, and electrical shock.

8. Apple makes great efforts to combat the distribution and sale of counterfeit Apple products bearing its trademarks. Despite Apple's efforts, fake Apple products continue to flood Amazon.com. Each month, Apple identifies and reports many thousands of listings for counterfeit and infringing Apple products to Amazon.com under its notice and takedown procedures. Over the last nine months, Apple, as part of its ongoing brand protection efforts, has purchased well over 100 iPhone devices, Apple power products, and Lightning cables sold as genuine by sellers on Amazon.com and delivered through Amazon's "Fulfillment by Amazon" program. Apple's internal examination and testing for these products revealed almost 90% of these products are counterfeit. Apple is concerned that consumers are being deceived into purchasing counterfeit products on Amazon.com and elsewhere in the mistaken belief that they are purchasing genuine Apple products. In addition to Apple's significant safety concerns for its

1 consumers, these products, which are consistently poorly constructed, are unlikely to function as
 2 well as genuine Apple products. As a result, consumers will erroneously come to think that
 3 Apple's products are of inferior quality and lose trust in the Apple brand, damaging the enormous
 4 goodwill associated with the Apple trademarks.

5 9. To stop the ongoing injury to Apple and its reputation and to protect consumers of 6 Apple products, Apple brings this action against Mobile Star and Does 1-50 (each a "Doe
 7 Defendant" and collectively "Doe Defendants") (Defendant and Doe Defendants collectively
 8 "Defendants"), and alleges as follows:

9 I. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

10 10. This is a Complaint for a preliminary and permanent injunction, damages, and 11 other appropriate relief to stop Defendants from infringing Apple's trademarks and copyrights by 12 advertising and selling counterfeit products bearing Apple's trademarks and copyrighted artwork,
 13 and from representing that these counterfeit products are genuine Apple products. In this action,
 14 Apple alleges: (1) Counterfeiting and Trademark Infringement (15 U.S.C. § 1114); (2) False
 15 Designation of Origin, 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(1)(A); (3) Copyright Infringement, 17 U.S.C. § 501 et 16 seq.; and (4) Unfair Competition, Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq. and the common law of 17 the State of California.

18 11. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over Apple's claims pursuant to 15
 19 U.S.C. § 1121, and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 (Federal Question Jurisdiction), 1367 (Supplemental 20 Jurisdiction), 1338(a)-(b) (Trademark, Copyright, and Unfair Competition Jurisdiction).

21 12. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendants, who have engaged in 22 business activities in this district, directed business activities to this district, and have committed 23 tortious acts with knowledge that the effects of their acts would be felt by Apple in this district.

24 13. Venue is proper in this Court because Defendants "may be found" within this 25 judicial district as that term is used in 28 U.S.C. § 1400(a). Venue is also proper in this Court
 26 pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391 because a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to 27 Apple's claims occurred in this judicial district.

II. THE PARTIES

14. Plaintiff Apple is a California corporation with its principal place of business located at 1 Infinite Loop, Cupertino, CA 95014.

15. On information and belief, Mobile Star is a New York Limited Liability Company with a principal place of business in New Jersey located at 250 Liberty St, Metuchen, NJ 08840. Mobile Star advertises, distributes, offers for sale, and sells counterfeit products and packaging bearing registered Apple trademarks and trade dress throughout the United States and, on information and belief, reproduces, displays, and distributes unauthorized copies of copyrighted works of Apple.

16. Apple is unaware of the true names and capacities of the Defendants sued herein as Does 1 through 50 but alleges on information and belief that each of them is in some way legally responsible for the wrongs alleged herein. Apple will amend this Complaint to plead their true names and capacities when ascertained.

17. Apple is informed and believes, and thereupon alleges, that each of the Defendants is, and at all times mentioned herein was, the agent of each of the other Defendants in that all times herein mentioned, each of the Defendants was authorized and empowered by each of the other Defendants to act, and did act, as the principal or agent of each of the other Defendants. Apple further alleges that each and every allegation regarding Defendants contained herein was done by each Defendant in the scope of said agency and in the capacity of and as principal or agent for, each of the other Defendants and with the permission and consent of each Defendant.

III. APPLE'S BUSINESS AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

18. Apple's Business. Incorporated in California in 1977, Apple designs, manufactures, markets, distributes, makes available, and sells or licenses a wide range of mobile communication and media devices, personal computers, and portable digital music players, as well as sells or licenses a variety of related software, services, peripherals, and network solutions, and third party digital content and applications. Among Apple's many product offerings are the iconic iPod®, iPhone®, iPad®, MacBook®, and Apple Watch®, as well as related software and services. Apple also offers a range of accessories for charging and syncing its devices, including

Apple and MagSafe® power adapters and Lightning® cables (collectively, the “Apple Products”). Apple sells Apple Products worldwide through its extensive distribution network consisting of online stores, its brick and mortar retail stores, its direct sales force, cellular network carriers, and authorized third-party wholesalers, retailers, and value-added resellers. Relevant consumers associate the Apple Products with Apple through the use of Apple’s well-known trademarks on such products, the products’ unique designs, Apple’s recognized distribution network, and Apple’s distinguished service-oriented shopping experience that it provides for those interested in purchasing Apple’s products.

19. Apple has become one of the most well-known and valuable brands in the world. Industry publications and market-research firms have consistently recognized the fame, value and source-identifying power of Apple’s brand. The “Top 100 Global Brands” published by BrandZ, the world’s largest brand asset research database, ranked Apple’s brand No. 1 on the list in 2011, 2012, 2013, and 2015 and No. 2 in 2014 and 2016. Interbrand, a leading brand assessment company, has ranked Apple within the top 50 most valuable brands in the world each year since 2001 and as the most valuable brand each year since 2013. In 2016, the most recent report, Interbrand ranked Apple as the most valuable brand, with a value of more than $175 billion dollars. Apple has also been recognized as one of the most respected, admired, and innovative companies in the world. For instance, Fortune magazine ranked Apple as the “World’s Most Admired Company” every year from 2006 to 2016. Forbes, which publishes an annual study of the world’s most valuable brands, has ranked Apple first for the sixth consecutive year since Forbes began its study in 2010.

20. Apple’s registered trademarks. Apple owns registrations for a number of trademarks that it uses to identify its products and services in the marketplace. Among the trademarks owned by Apple are numerous registered trademarks listed below in paragraph 21 of this Complaint (collectively the “Apple Marks”), including well-known marks such as the APPLE word mark and the registered Apple Logo, both in use since at least 1977. The APPLE word mark and Apple Logo are two of the most famous and widely recognized marks in the world. They are an integral part of Apple’s corporate business and are of enormous value to the company. Other widely recognized Apple marks include IPHONE, MACBOOK, MACBOOK AIR, MAGSAFE, and LIGHTNING. Apple has spent hundreds of millions of dollars promoting the goods and services associated with the Apple Marks, and millions of Apple's customers use goods and services associated with those marks.

21. Apple owns the following United States Registered Trademarks used in connection with power adapters and accessories for various Apple products, which as listed below reflect any updates made through statutory maintenance filings:

Each of the above-listed registrations is valid and subsisting and was valid and subsisting at the time of all acts alleged herein. Apple has and had the exclusive right to use and license the trademarks identified in each of the registrations. Registration Nos. 3,679,056, 3,229,791, 3,870,782, 3,669,402, 3,222,089, and 3,522,328 are incontestable under 15 U.S.C. § 1065.

22. Each of the Apple Marks identified by registration number above is a distinctive mark that is recognized by consumers as a brand identifier for Apple's goods and services provided under the mark.

23. The Apple Marks, as well as other trademarks owned by Apple, are used in interstate commerce by Apple in connection with the sale, offering for sale, distribution, and advertising of Apple's products and services. As a result of Apple's enormous investment in developing ground-breaking and high-quality products under the Apple Marks, the Apple Marks have acquired extensive goodwill in the market. The Apple Marks are extremely valuable and important to Apple and form a cornerstone for Apple's business.

24. Apple's registered Copyrights. Apple regularly creates graphic and textual works that are protected by registered copyrights. For example, images and text on some product packaging such as Apple's Lightning Packaging are protected by registered copyright.

IV. DEFENDANTS' UNLAWFUL ACTIONS

25. Defendants' course of illegal conduct includes the distribution and sale of counterfeit Apple products that Defendants falsely represent are genuine Apple products. As part of their scheme to deceive consumers, Defendants also use Apple's trademarks, trade dress, and copyrighted works to create the impression that Defendants' inferior and often dangerous products are original Apple products.

26. Apple's Investigation. Through Apple's ongoing efforts to remove counterfeit goods from listings on Amazon.com, Apple purchased from Amazon.com Apple-branded products associated with 12 Amazon.com Standard Identification Numbers ("ASINs"): B015JWКУ2G, B010W7NQL0, B00UBL277C, B00KPZEUC4, B00KML141G, B00O5DXXAM, B0097BEFYA, B00VGKN2N0, B0161AB6IW, B012YEWP2K, B0117PL9RY, and B013EUO616.

27. Each of the 12 offers was for an Apple power product such as an Apple 5W or

1 10W power adapter, cable, or combination of two or more such products. The products were
 2 listed as “sold by Amazon.com” and were identified in the Amazon.com listings as genuine
 3 Apple products, often using Apple’s copyrighted marketing images. Upon careful examination of 4 the products, Apple determined that, although the products bore the Apple Marks and were
 5 sometimes in packaging bearing Apple’s copyrighted works, the products were not genuine Apple
 6 products at all but were counterfeit.

14 Sold by Amazon.com on ASIN B00KPZEUC4 and sourced from Mobile Star

22 Sold by Amazon.com on ASIN B012YEW2K and sourced from Mobile Star

23 28. Apple informed Amazon.com that it had purchased a number of counterfeit Apple
 24 products directly from Amazon.com associated with the 12 different ASINs in correspondence
 25 that took place from April 2016 through June 2016. Amazon.com identified Mobile Star as the 26 supplier of the products purchased by Apple and agreed to turn over to Apple its additional 27 inventory of those particular products it had purchased from Mobile Star. In letters dated June 7,
 28 2016 and June 14, 2016, Apple demanded Mobile Star cease distribution of counterfeit Apple

1 products and to provide basic information about the distribution and source of the counterfeit
2 products. After first failing even to respond to Apple, Mobile Star finally claimed it had bought
3 the goods from “reputable suppliers” but refused to provide any information about those suppliers
4 or about anything else concerning Mobile Star’s sale of the counterfeit products.

5 29. Defendants go to great lengths to associate their counterfeit goods with the 6 goodwill accrued by Apple in the Apple Marks. Defendants imprint the Apple Logo (🍏) on their 7 counterfeit goods and make false claims that the goods were DESIGNED BY APPLE IN 8 CALIFORNIA® in order to falsely convey that their counterfeit goods are instead genuine Apple,
9 Lightning cables and MagSafe and USB power adapters. Defendants also use Apple’s distinctive 10 packaging and trade dress, including Apple’s copyrighted material, for certain of their counterfeit
11 products in order to further conceal the counterfeit nature of their goods. Fake Apple serial 12 numbers are also applied.

13 30. Apple tested a number of the Mobile Star -supplied power adapters it had 14 purchased and each one failed the Hipot Test (high potential (high voltage) test), also known as 15 the Dielectric Withstanding Voltage test, confirming that the products lack sufficient insulation
16 and/or spacing between the high voltage and low voltage component and have the potential to 17 overheat or deliver a lethal electric shock to a user of the device. Visual inspection of counterfeit 18 adapters that Apple disassembled showed the counterfeits have improper soldering of internal 19 wiring and some even lack critical safety fuses to protect against overheating in the event of a 20 power surge. To conceal the dangers that these Mobile Star products pose to consumers, many 21 also bear a phony UL safety certification.

22 31. Mobile Star’s distribution of counterfeit Apple products is ongoing and extends 23 beyond Amazon.com as shown by Apple’s purchase of 10 counterfeit Apple products directly
24 from Groupon in December 2015. The counterfeit Apple products were sold as product bundles
25 associated with Groupon UPC/SKU numbers 885909627306 and 885909627450. Groupon
26 recently identified Mobile Star as the supplier of those counterfeit products.

27 32. In addition, an Apple investigator recently purchased counterfeit Apple EarPods®
28 headphones and Lightning® cables directly from Mobile Star, showing that Mobile Star is

1 brazenly continuing to sell counterfeit Apple products even after learning that Apple was on to it.

2 33. As a result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Apple's business has been harmed.
3 Sales of counterfeit Apple products hurt the sales of genuine Apple products. In addition, the 4 goodwill associated with Apple's marks and also Apple's reputation are damaged as consumers
5 likely equate Defendants' defective and dangerous products with Apple because they believe
6 incorrectly the counterfeit products are genuine Apple products.

7 34. The public interest will also be harmed if Defendants' unlawful conduct is 8 permitted to continue. Consumers who believe they purchased a world-class product designed 9 consistent with Apple's commitment to quality and safety instead face potentially grave safety
10 risks associated with Defendants' counterfeit power products. At the least, consumers will spend 11 hard-earned money on Defendants' inferior counterfeit goods under the false belief they are 12 purchasing a genuine Apple product.

13 FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF

14 (Trademark Counterfeiting and Infringement Under § 32(l) of the Lanham Act)

15 35. Apple hereby realleges and incorporates herein the allegations set forth in 16 paragraphs 1-34 of this Complaint.

17 36. The Apple Marks were in use by Apple at all times relevant to the allegations 18 herein.

19 37. Defendants used in commerce reproductions, counterfeits, and/or copies of the 20 Apple Marks in connection with the sale, offering for sale, distribution, or advertising of goods in 21 a manner that is likely to cause confusion, or to cause mistake, or to deceive. The copies of the 22 Apple Marks used by Defendants are identical to or substantially indistinguishable from the 23 genuine Apple Marks.

24 38. Defendants applied without authorization counterfeit and/or copied versions of the 25 Apple Marks to labels, wrappers, and products intended to be used in commerce and in 26 connection with the sale, offering for sale, distribution, and/or advertising of goods or services in 27 a manner that is likely to cause confusion, or to cause mistake, and/or to deceive. Defendants
28 applied counterfeit versions of the Apple Marks to the classes of products that the Apple Marks are registered for use with the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office.

39. Defendants acted with knowledge that their use of the Apple Marks was intended to cause confusion, or to cause mistake, or to deceive.

40. Apple has suffered damages and irreparable harm as a result of Defendants' counterfeiting and infringement and will continue to suffer irreparable injury unless Defendants and their officers, agents, and employees and all persons acting in concert with them, are enjoined from engaging in any further such acts in violation of 32(l) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1114(1).

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(False Designation of Origin under § 43(a)(1)(A) of the Lanham Act)

41. Apple hereby realleges and incorporates herein the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1-40 of this Complaint.

42. Defendants are using in commerce the Apple Marks in connection with the distribution, marketing, and sale of competing products in a manner that is likely to cause confusion, or mistake, or to deceive as to the origin, sponsorship, or approval of Defendants' goods or commercial activities by Apple.

43. The acts of Defendants constitute trademark infringement and false designation of origin in violation of Apple's rights under section 43(a) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a).

44. Defendants acted willfully and knowingly in engaging in their acts of infringement.

45. Apple has suffered damages and irreparable harm as a result of Defendants' false designation of origin and will continue to suffer irreparable injury unless Defendants and their officers, agents, and employees and all persons acting in concert with them, are enjoined from engaging in any further such acts in violation of section 43(a)(1)(A) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a)(1)(A).

THIRD CLAIM FOR RELIEF

(Copyright Infringement under 17 U.S.C. § 501 et seq.)

46. Apple hereby realleges and incorporates herein the allegations set forth in paragraphs 1-45 of this Complaint.

47. Apple has created works comprising images and/or text that constitute copyrightable subject matter under the Copyright Act (the “Works”).
